Inspired by the in-demand look of rustic, reclaimed wood, the Landmark Collection features a natural woodgrain surface texture, complemented by unique crosscuts, and is made from approximately 60% recycled materials. This TimberTech PVC decking collection's superior performance, sophisticated aesthetics and sustainability were noted by the judging panel and online consumer voters who ranked the collection as their top choice.

"We are honored to see the Captivate and Landmark Collection product lines recognized by the prestigious industry and consumer panels of these award programs," said Jesse Singh, CEO of The AZEK Company. "Our primary focus is to design and manufacture innovative, high performance and environmentally sustainable outdoor living products that improve productivity for contractors and enable homeowners to create beautiful and low-maintenance outdoor living spaces. These wins reinforce AZEK's category leadership as we seek to further convert the market away from wood and towards our types of materials. We will continue to lead through innovation and bring new products to market that are sustainably engineered to last beautifully."
